Dr. Wilson of the board of health is much disappointed at the indifference shown by the majority of the city phy-sicians to whom were sent postal cards hearing questions anent the preva-lence of typhoid fever. "To have filled out these cards and mailed them to us would have taken but little time" he said would have taken but little time" he said yesterday, "and would have given the board much very valuable information on a subject of vital importance. As it is I presume most of the cards lie in waste paper baskets and the matter forgotten. Some of the answers we did receive were very completely and carefully drawn up, but they are to few to enable us to draw conclusions that will be of permanent value."

The calendar for the May term of the superior court, just issued by Clerk Fyfe, shows seventeen criminal cases in which the state is interested, two criminal cases in which the city prose-cutes, three cases of issue of fact, jury, and four non-jury, one street opening case. The process penetrates the wood thoroughly, making the color evenly distributed all through the timber. The lumber can then be cut into strips and fin shed at once. It is said to be a great improvement over the old process of staining.

Fred H. Leonard Says He Is Not Mentally Incompetent

igan Trust Company, and $125,soo is invelved.

On the 17th day of last February there was filed in the probate court a petiion signed by Charles H. Leonard, the senior member of the firm of H. Leonard's Sons. The petition alleged that Fred H. Leonard, a brother, was mentally incompetent and unable to properly attend to his business interests. The petition alleged further that "he is easily influenced by designing persons and during the pendency of the appointment of a permanent guardian he may dispose of his interests greatly to his disadvantage." On these grounds, and in compliance with the prayer of the petitioner, the Michigan Trust company was appointed temporary guardian. On February 20 personal service was secured on Fred H. Leonard, citing him to appear and show cause, if any existed, why the temporary guardian should not be made permanent. A trial day was set and in the absence of Fred H. Leonard, either in person or by attorney, the following witnesses were examined by the petitioners: Dr. R. M. Luton and Dr. S. C. Graves swore substantially that they had treated him for paralysis and considered that his mind had become so affected by the disease as to mentally incapacitate him from properly transacting business. properly attend to his business inter-Acting business.

Mrs. C. H. Leonard swore that he had Mrs. C. H. Leonard swere that he had been sick for a vary long time and had given many evidences of being mentally incompetent. Charles H. Leonard and Frank E. Leonard swore substantially to the same. On this evidence and in the absence of opposition, Judge Perkins made an order appointing the Micigan Trust company permanent guardians. On March 31 last or nearly one month siter the appointment of a permanent guardian, Fred H. Leonard and Mary Rice, the divorced wife of Dr. John J. Rice, were married in Windser, Ont., and are now married in Windser, Ont., and are now living together in this city.

Yesterday morning Fred H. Leonard by his attorney N. P. Allen with McGarry & McKnight of counsel filed an appeal from the erder of the probate court. This takes the case to the circuit court, in which it will probably not come up for trial before the October term. The appeal sets forth tac following reasons why a guardian should lowing reasons why a guardian should not have been appointed: First—Because the undersigned is not mentally incompetent to have the charge and control of his property. Second—Because he is mentally competent to have the charge and control of his business.

Third—Because the undersigned is not now and never was mentally incompetent to prosecute his own business affairs, but is now and ever has been of sound mind, and since attaining his majority mentally competent in all respects to have the care, custody and control of all his property.

Fourth—Because the said judge of probate erred in decreeing and finding that the said Fred H. Leonard was a mentally incompetent person, and in ap-pointing a guardian of his person and estate, he, the said Fred H. Leonard, being at the time of of making said debeing at the time of of making said de-cree and appointing said guardian, mentally competent and not habie to antee that their strength will always reguardianship.

Fifth-Because the probate court had no jurisdiction to make the order hereby appealed from. Sixth-Because the said probate court had no jurisdiction to appoint the Michigan Trust company guardian of The property affected by these proceedings, it is said, will aggregate about $225,000. The estate inventoried, however, at on-ly $124,091.60. Those familiar with Fred H. Leonard before he was stricken with paralysis and who have known him since, agree in saying that the bright young man of six years ago who gave promise of so much is but little more than a wreck of his former seif. From a keen companionable and ac-quaintance he has deteriorated until it is scarcely possible to believe him one and the same individual. During these six years he has visited Europe twice, tried the Hot Springs and went to Mt. Clemens, in the hope that a permanent cure might be effected.

The following brief synopsis was given by a man whose magnificent physique could apparently defy disease and pain, yet he was a great sufferer when he went to Doctor French at the Vendome for treatment.

The case is that of our well known citizen, Mr. William Gelock, proprietor of the bottling works at No. 28 North Division street, this city. Mr. Gelock, for several years, has suffered more or less from rheumatism, which at times caused him great uneasiness and suffer-ing, but after energetic measures he would find relief. The varying state of things continued until finally this paneful disease settled in his foot, swelling the foot to twice its natural size. He continued to use indicated size. He continued to use indicated remedies. Of course he consulted doctors and took their medicines, but to no purpose. The foot continued to swell and pain him, and walking became a difficult task. At last, however, he began to read in the newspapers and hear his neighbors tell of the wonderful cures performed by Doctor French at Hartman's hall and at the Vendome Hotel. He said he was going Vendome Hotel. He said he was going to Doctor French to be cured; and he did as he said he would do, much to the chagrin and disgust of those about him. "Why," said he, "Doctor French can do no less than others; they dose me but do me no good. So I placed

Last Friday the hall was filled with the best ladies of the city to hear him and see his marvelous cures The doctor is permanently located at the Vendome Hotel, where consulta-tions are free.
